PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Defendants Superintendent Robert Morton and Nurse Practitioner Olayemi Odeniyi (“N.P. Odeniyi”) (collectively, “Defendants”), respectfully submit this memorandum of law in opposition to the motion of Plaintiff pro se Juan Pena (“Plaintiff”), “pursuant to [FRCP] Rule 56 (e) and Rule 6(b) ...” to submit supplemental papers to “properly support or address the facts in [D]efendants’ motion to dismiss.” Dkt. No. 44, ¶¶ 3, 5. Defendants’ dismissal motion has been pending for eight months. Plaintiff never sought an extension of time to oppose Defendants’ motion. He cannot now be permitted to submit additional papers, raise new arguments, and unduly delay this proceeding.

Assuming, arguendo, the Court grants Plaintiff leave to file the supplemental papers, Defendants request thirty (30) days in which to respond to the arguments raised therein.

ARGUMENT

PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE SUPPLEMENTAL PAPERS SHOULD BE DENIED

Plaintiff’s motion is effectively a motion for leave to file a sur-reply and should be denied in its entirety. Defendants’ dismissal motion was filed on March 3, 2021 (Dkt. No. 39) and received by Plaintiff on March 8, 2021. (Dkt. No. 44, ¶ 10). Plaintiff had twenty-six (26) days to file papers in opposition, which were filed on April 2, 2021, without Plaintiff seeking an extension of time to do so. (Id., ¶ 10). Defendants served their reply papers on April 19, 2021. (Dkt. No. 42). Plaintiff then waited almost eight (8) months, until December 9, 2021, before seeking leave to further oppose Defendants’ motion. Plaintiff does not allege that that his supplemental papers address allegations raised for the first time in Defendants’ reply papers. See DT v. Somers Cent. Sch. Dist., No. 06-Civ.-2674, 2009 WL 10706891, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 11, 2009), aff’d, 348 F. App’x 697 (2d Cir. 2009) (“a court may grant leave to file a sur-reply where ‘the party making the motion would be unable to contest matters presented to the court for the first time in the opposing party's reply.'") (quoting Lewis v. Rumsfeld, 154 F. Supp. 2d 56, 61 (D.D.C. 2001)). He simply wants to file papers on his self-serving schedule to address arguments he contends were previously ignored. See Dkt. No. 44, ¶¶ 6.

Plaintiff erroneously contends that the nearly 8-month delay in seeking leave to supplement his opposition will not serve to prejudice the Court or Defendants or "further delay this civil proceeding." Dkt. No. 44, ¶¶ 6. Consideration of Plaintiff's belated submission would delay consideration of Defendants' meritorious motion for several months and open the door for a countless number of pro se litigants to seek a second bite of the apple months after a motion has been fully briefed. Such a result would dramatically disrupt the orderly operation of the legal system.

In sum, Plaintiff is not the only incarcerated individual who must overcome obstacles such as limited access to the law library and unfamiliarity with the legal system. His pro se status does not excuse him from filing timely papers and seeking an appropriate extension. Plaintiff did not request more time to oppose Defendants' motion and cannot surface months later with additional papers and additional arguments. His motion should be denied.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Defendants respectfully request that Plaintiff's motion for leave to file supplemental papers be denied in its entirety. Alternatively, should the Court grant Plaintiff leave to submit supplemental papers, Defendants respectfully request they be granted thirty (30) days in which to file responsive papers.
